PUBLICATIONS CATALOGUE 2009

Welcome to the 2009 edition of our Publications Catalogue

2008 was a memorable year for National Talking Newspapers and Magazines. The charity received the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service in recognition of the vital contribution made by several hundred volunteers – notably in providing the voices for more than 200 publications recorded here at the National Recording Centre.

If you, or someone you know, would like to subscribe to one or more of our publications, please contact our customer service team. They will be able to help with any queries you might have. If there's a publication you would like but is not currently available, please let us know.

Many thanks for your interest in National Talking Newspapers & Magazines

Subscribing Could Not be Easier

There are just four simple steps:

1 - Select your publication(s)

This catalogue lists all the publications that we transcribe – more than 200 in total covering a wide range of subjects and interests. There is no limit to the number and range of titles you can choose.

2 - Choose your format(s)

We offer a range of audio and digital full-text formats. The catalogue has a different section for each format, explaining the advantages of the format, the playback equipment required and listing the publications available in that format.

3 - Calculate price & select payment method

Prices are listed in the Price Reference table on the application form that you should have received with this catalogue. Publications on audio CD or tape are priced based on frequency, the number of tapes/CDs on which the publication is delivered and the format. Each DAISY compilation CD or digital service has a particular price. You can choose to pay by Direct Debit, Credit Card or Cheque.

4 – Complete the application form, or call us

You can complete the application form yourself and send it to us, or you can call us and we can complete it for you over the phone.

Publications available on DAISY CD

Introduction

The majority of our most popular publications are available in DAISY format. Our DAISY formatted titles are delivered on one of five DAISY compilation CDs, providing subscribers with access to a range of their favourite publications and up to 40 hours of listening on each disk.

The five DAISY compilations:

- Weekly Newsagent - General
- Weekly Newsagent - Women's
- Monthly Newsagent
- Current Affairs Weekly
- Arts & Entertainment Weekly

Details of the publications available via each compilation are listed in this section.

Key Features

- 5 different compilations
- Excellent choice and value – a weekly DAISY compilation CD can provide more than 50 different titles over the course of a month
- CDs do not have to be returned – they are yours to keep
- Enhanced navigation - individual tracks for each article
- Variable play speed and pitch
- Bookmarking

Required Equipment

A DAISY player, either a hardware player such as a Talking Book and Magazine player, or a software player for use on a PC. Please note that certain portable DAISY players do not provide full navigation for our DAISY discs. Please call customer services for more information.

Bringing Print

The Challenge

Around two million people in the UK are unable to access the printed word because of a sight problem or other reading disability. Imagine not being able to pick up a newspaper and learn about the latest news, enjoy your favourite magazine, or join in a conversation with friends and colleagues because you can't read about the issues they are all talking about.

Our service helps blind and print disabled people gain access to information that would otherwise be denied to them, enabling them to achieve a level of independence and choice that most sighted people take for granted.

The National Recording Centre

Established in 1983, National Talking Newspapers and Magazines now produces over 200 newspaper and magazine titles in a variety of audio and digital full-text formats at our National Recording Centre in Heathfield, East Sussex. More than 200 volunteers and around 40 staff are involved in maintaining the service.

Our Publications

Our audio publications are produced digitally in our eight on-site studios. Each recording session involves a studio manager and a couple of volunteer readers. The audio is then output in a variety of formats including tape, audio CD, DAISY CD and MP3 download. Tape titles are sent in returnable wallets so subscribers can return their tapes for re-use. About 80 different publications are available as digital full-text, delivered by email, web download or CD-ROM. Subscribers access the content using their PCs and screenreader software. Many of the newspapers we produce as digital full-text are available before the hardcopy is available in the shops!

Funding

We receive no government funding and subscription income covers less than half our costs. If you would like to contribute to maintaining this unique and invaluable service turn to page 26 to learn how you can help.

Volunteer Sonia Locke in studio 9 during a recording of Take a Break

to Life

A lifeline

“The one thing that I really would have missed is the classical music magazine. I used to read it absolutely cover to cover so I was very delighted that you do it.”

Kath Borland

“Taking ‘Take a Break’ is just like having a friend come in and sharing all the news.”

Betty Grant

“Talking Newspapers has made such a difference to my way of life. I can’t thank them enough for the service.”

Mark Smith

The Queen’s Award for Voluntary Service

In 2008 the invaluable contribution of our volunteers was recognised by the receipt of the Queen’s Award for Voluntary Service.

The Queen’s Award for Voluntary Service 2008

The award, was presented by the Lord Lieutenant of East Sussex, Mrs Phyllida Stewart-Roberts OBE. Peter Driver, the charity’s Chairman, accepted the award on behalf of the charity and paid tribute to our volunteers: “Our 200 volunteers, together with our staff, contribute enormously to the well-being of many thousands of blind, partially sighted and print disabled people throughout the UK. The award is a recognition of their hard work and dedication.”

The audio download service

Introduction

Our audio download service makes all the audio titles recorded in our studios available via the web. Subscribers can choose to listen online or download for later listening.

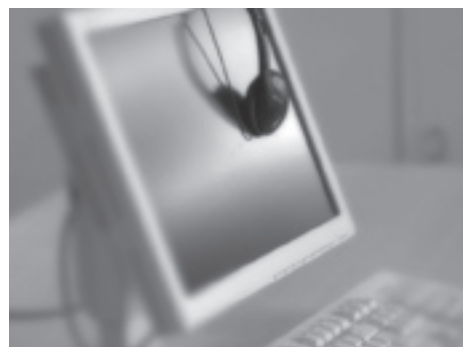

Publications are downloaded in MP3 format and can be played on most digital media players.

Key Features

- Huge choice – most publications we provide in audio format will be made available for download
- No restrictions – download as many publications as you like for one price
- Timely – publications become available within 24 hours of being recorded
- Portable – transfer your publications to portable audio players to listen any time, anywhere
- Flexibility – download publications in 45 minute parts or article by article
- Podcasts – each publication has its own podcast facility so you can make sure your favourite publications are automatically downloaded as soon as they are available
- Less hassle – no more managing tapes or CDs and having to return them

Required Equipment

An internet connection and a facility to browse the web, usually via a computer with sound facilities and a media playing software package. These are usually provided as standard on new computers. Downloaded files can also be transferred to other devices such as portable media players, memory sticks or SD cards.

Which format is right for you?

If you are unsure what format would be best for your needs, or you would like more information on playback devices, please don't hesitate to call customer services on 01435 866102. They will be happy to help.

Download Without a Computer!

You don't have to own a computer to be able to listen to audio over the web. In conjunction with British Wireless for the Blind Fund, we are able to offer access to all our audio titles via their new Sonata player (see advert below for player details).

All Sonata owners can access our audio publications via a subscription to our audio download service. The Sonata makes navigating through the publications straightforward. New publications are made available automatically, and the wireless connection enables you to listen to your favourite publications anywhere in your home.

A free trial of this service is available to all Sonata owners.

Please call our customer service team for more information.

Access for Libraries, Schools and Colleges

Our digital services are a great way to bring talking newspapers and magazines to your students or members.

We have a variety of subscription options for organisations, including an option to allow users to download material and transfer to their own portal player.

INTERNET AUDIO NOW AVAILABLE FROM BWBF

British Wireless for the Blind Fund's new Sonata offers visually impaired listeners a host of great audio services – ranging from radio and podcasts to talking books, newspapers and magazines.

Sonata enables listeners to enjoy a wide range of services – including radio, talking newspapers, magazines and books – via an internet broadband connection. Listeners can have immediate access to the latest news, weather reports, stock exchange information (in the form of a podcast) and even today's newspaper (either local or national) without the need for CDs or tapes.

Easy to use, it has a single rotating control and four pushbuttons to operate the unit. Instructions are read out by means of an audible programme guide while a single touch of a push button confirms the selection. An internal wireless connection enables Sonata to be placed anywhere in the home.

The British Wireless for the Blind Fund is an independent charity dedicated to providing specially adapted audio equipment – on free permanent loan – to UK-registered blind or partially sighted people (over the age of eight) who are in need. For further information contact BWBF, 10 Albion Place, Maidstone, Kent ME14 5DZ. Tel: 01622 754757 Fax: 01622 751725. Or visit our website at: www.blind.org.uk

Publications available as digital full-text

Introduction

All publications listed in this section are available as digital full-text. These can be delivered by email, downloaded via the web or sent on a CD-ROM.

You will need a PC with screen reading software to access the publications.

Publications can be transferred to portable text-to-speech devices so you can listen away from your PC.

Key Features

- A wide choice of more than 70 titles for one price
- The full text of the publication is available
- Newspapers are usually delivered promptly on the day of publication - in some cases before they are available in newsagents!
- Easy navigation using free newsreader software
- If you elect to receive publications by email you can choose the titles you wish to receive, request a back issue, or temporarily suspend deliveries while you are on holiday

Required Equipment

A PC with internet access and screen reader software. It is also recommended that subscribers install the free a-technic newsreader software, which provides enhanced navigation and article searching facilities.

Which format is right for you?

If you are unsure what format would be best for your needs, or you would like more information on playback devices, please don't hesitate to call customer services on 01435 866102. They will be happy to help.

WEEKLY DIGITAL CD-ROM SERVICE

Members who use personal computers can also obtain publications in digital full-text format on CD-ROM.

Each weekly CD-ROM contains the previous six issues of 10 daily newspapers, 30 different weekly newspapers and magazines, plus 6 monthly titles. It also has a selection of books from Project Gutenberg.

The CD-Rom is yours to keep - there's no need to return the disk or any of the packaging.

WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT!

Although the service we offer is a subscription based service, only half our costs are covered by subscription income. In order to maintain a service that has been described as a 'lifeline' to so many, we rely on the generous support of individuals, trusts and companies.

Donations

If you would like to make a donation, there are several ways in which you can give:

Regular Direct Debit

You should find a donation leaflet including direct debit forms accompanying this catalogue. If this leaflet is not present, please contact us and we will send as many as you need.

By Cheque or Credit Card

You can donate by cheque made payable to 'TNAUK' and sent to our address below, or by credit card by phoning 01435 866102.

Over the Web

Visit our website (www.tnauk.org.uk) and then follow the 'How Can I Help?' link.

Fundraising

From an epic physical challenge to a coffee morning, if you would like to take part in, or even organise an event for National Talking Newspapers and Magazines, we would be delighted to hear from you.

Legacies

Legacies also play a vital role in our funding. For more information on how a gift in your will can make a huge difference, please contact please contact Andrew Ledward, our legacy advisor, on 01435 866102 for more information, and a copy of our free Legacies Leaflet.

Volunteering

We rely heavily on volunteers to maintain the service. If you live within commuting distance of the National Recording Centre at Heathfield, we have plenty of opportunities for volunteers, from assisting in our production department to joining our team of volunteer readers.

your choice

More than 200 national newspapers and magazines are available on audio CD, audio tape, DAISY or in digital format. Publications are delivered postage free to the visually impaired and subscribers can even change their choices during the course of their subscription. The National Talking Newspaper and Magazine service can be delivered in the five following formats.

audio CD Many publications are available on audio CD, offering better navigation, improved playback quality and you get to keep them! Audio CD titles will play on any standard domestic CD player. They can also be played using certain RNIB talking book machines as well as DVD players and PC CD drives.

audio tape Recorded and produced in our National Recording Centre, the tapes are playable on any standard cassette player or music centre. Individual copies are sent FREEPOST in PVC postal wallets which have reversible address labels for FREEPOST return.

audio download Most of the audio publications recorded in our studios are available via a web download. The audio can be played online or downloaded for later listening on a portable MP3 player such as a Milestone, iPod or Book Courier. Publications can be downloaded in two or four 45 minute parts, or article by article.

digital full-text Many publications are available in digital full-text format, which is read by subscribers' own screen reading software. The texts can be delivered by email, web download or on a weekly CD-ROM. Most daily newspapers are delivered on the day of publication and the full text is available.

DAISY Our range of DAISY compilations delivers both choice and value. They are presented on CD-ROM and can be played on DAISY Talking Book and Magazine players. Offering enhanced navigation, variable play speed/pitch and bookmarking, DAISY is a great way to access your favourite publications.

"I LOVE MY BWBF SET"

BWBF GAVE MARLA A WINDOW ON THE WORLD SHE CANNOT SEE

Marla was born blind. She is just one of the many thousands of UK-registered blind or partially sighted people who enjoy the entertainment and companionship of specially adapted audio equipment provided on FREE PERMANENT LOAN FOR LIFE to those in need by the British Wireless for the Blind Fund.

Her CD-radio-cassette recorder from BWBF means the world to her.

As an independent charity, BWBF relies completely upon donations and legacies to carry on our work. To find out more about how you can help, please contact:
